NAMES IN NEWS USED AS CLUB ON TAX DODGER

POINTS TO DEVICES USED

Investigators Deny Persecuting Individuals, Claim They Want To Get Funds.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 17—Secretary Morgenthau told a congressional inquiry committee today he hoped that "continued publicity" on methods of alleged tax evasion and tax avoidance would help to stop tax dodging.

Morgenthau, first witness at the joint senate-house investigation into evasion and avoidance, asserted a variety of devices to avoid taxes have been used in recent years. "The situation calls for remedial legislation," he said.

Morgenthau's statement contained no names of asserted tax evaders or tax avoiders.

List To Be Given Later

Treasury officials, however, reported that a list of names has been compiled for later submission to the joint committee.

Congressional investigators said their purpose was not "persecution" of individuals but protection of government revenue.

That assurance came from Chairman Doughton, Democrat of North Carolina, of the senate-house investigating committee, who added:

It is an investigation to try to get facts and information on which to base amendments to the law, so that people will pay the taxes they should pay."

With President Roosevelt's backing, the committee arranged for full publicity on the names and methods of any wealthy individuals who may have avoided tax payments.

Doughton said he considered the great majority of taxpayers honest, adding that "those who are not honest—we'll have to go after them."

Will Give Facts

"I don't like to besmirch anybody or put him under a cloud," Doughton said. "We'll state the facts, and if that exposes them, they'll be exposed."

Morgenthau struck repeatedly at rich taxpayers who he said employ "expensive attorneys", to avoid taxes.

The secretary expressed concern over what he termed an attitude of many that tax avoidance is "a legitimate and honorable aim."

Nevertheless," he continued, "I am hopeful that the continued publicity which hearings of this sort give with respect to the game of tax avoidance may help to create an atmosphere in which men will hesitate to use these artificial devices to avoid the payment of taxes just as today they hesitate to use such devices to escape the payment of private debt."

Morgenthau said that publicity on the more fantastic methods of tax avoidance now considered "legitimate" may create an attitude against tax dodging.

Outlines Schemes Used

The treasury chief traced various methods of tax evasion, re-outlining devices described in President Roosevelt's recent message to congress on evasion and avoidance.

Morgenthau told the committee that one of the chief tax avoidance devices "is the creation of a multiple personality in the taxpayer."

"By this device," the secretary continued, "he ceases to be a single individual and becomes a whole group of people, some of whom are earning money while others are losing it.

"He divides himself into several

PROBLEMS OUTLINED

Rep. Robert L. Doughton—"Farmer Bob" to his constituents in the North Carolina mountains—will preside at the congressional inquiry into "tax dodging." He is shown here at the phone, promising little privacy to wayward taxpayers. (Associated Press Photo.)

The biennial convention of the Fifth division of the Railway Mail association got under way this morning at Eagles' hall after the opening banquet for delegates and their families last night at Hotel Harding. The business sessions, presided over by B. G. Burris of Cincinnati, division president, were expected to continue until late today when the convention will adjourn.

An address by J. F. Bennett of of Washington, D. C., followed by the selection of committees to prepare business for the afternoon session, featured this morning's program.

Mr. Bennett was to return to Washington this afternoon. His address to the members this morning comprised suggestions for the division to follow in drafting resolutions for submission to the national convention Oct. 15 at Philadelphia.

Three Chief Points

His address centered about three points: seniority of mail clerks, establishment of a new policy in computing years of work, and changes in retirement ages for clerks.

Though suggesting no plan of correcting it, he explained there is some difficulty in fixing the seniority of men when transferred from one railroad to another. He said such men should not retain all their former seniority.

The second problem—whether to base years of work on the number of hours a day or on the number of round trips—has arisen as a result of the speeding up of trains in the last several years, he said. He suggested that since a clerk travels more miles in a day than he did years ago, that the number of trips be substituted for hours.

The retirement change suggested is that clerks be permitted to retire if they wish at 55 instead of 60 as at present. He said it is possible

MURRAY RAPS 'ARMED' FIRMS

Claims Steel Companies Flout Laws in Effort To Avoid Collective Bargaining.

WANTS BROAD INQUIRY

Suggests Both Union and Companies Be Subject to Thorough Investigation.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 17—Philip Murray, steel workers leader, charged before a senate committee today that four steel companies where strikes are now in progress had entered "an unholy alliance to flout all laws" in their effort to avoid true collective bargaining with their employes.

"In dozens of local communities, these steel barons have created armed camps where any act of violence on the part of their agents, including wholesale murder of innocent and defenseless workers can occur with impunity and without obligation to account to the law," said Murray, who is chairman of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, SWOC is an affiliate of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

Murray testified at a preliminary investigation of the steel strike by the postoffice committee. The inquiry was prompted by charges of interference with the mails.

Murray asserted there should be an immediate and thorough investigation of the steel corporations' policies in the strike.

"Let this investigation include the activities and policies of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee and their agents," he said. "Such investigation should delve with complete thoroughness into the violations of civil liberties, denial of the right to picket, importation of strike breakers, and use of force by company guards and thugs."

Murray cited in his testimony seven specific cases of what he declared were violations of the Wagner labor relations act.

Referring to the deaths of eight steel workers and the wounding of many others in a clash near the Republic Steel plant in south Chicago May 30, Murray said Paramount moving pictures of the scene had been withheld from public release but had been shown privately to the senate civil liberties committee.

MAYOR SMITH G. O. P. SPEAKER TONIGHT

To Talk on Gold Standard at Republican Meeting in Cleveland.

Mayor Frederick C. Smith is scheduled to be among the speakers tonight at a meeting of Ohio Republicans at Cleveland. The two-day convention, which opened with a luncheon at noon today, is sponsored by the Ohio Federation of Republican clubs.

Mayor Smith's topic will be "The Gold Standard—the Working Man's and Farmer's Greatest Protection for Keeping What They Produce." Among other speakers will be Robert A. Taft of Cincinnati and John W. Bricker, 1936 gubernatorial candidate.

The purpose of the meeting is to discuss party issues, suggest a platform for the state Republican affairs, give potential candidates for governor and United States senator an opportunity to speak, and to give local officials a chance to air their views.

DELEGATION TO VISIT LAYTON HERE TODAY

Group, Including G.A.R. Comrades, Will Come Here from Encampment.

First hand reports of the annual encampment of the Ohio Department of the G. A. R. which closed today and for which he was to have presided, will be given Past Commander Francis S. Layton when a number of members from the affiliated patriotic societies and possibly one or two veterans visit him this afternoon at his home on North Main street. Mr. Layton was prevented from attending the state meeting by illness. He is suffering from a severe cold and complications. His condition remains about the same today, the family reported. The group will come to Marion following the close of the encampment.

Theodore Wells, 91, of Cadiz, was elected to succeed Mr. Layton as commander of the state department. He is known in Marion, having attended a number of meetings of Cooper Post No. 117, and other patriotic affairs.

Fred Priester of Cincinnati, was elected senior vice commander, W. D. Christman of Athens, junior vice commander, and J. C. Arbuckle of Columbus, chaplain.

Gene and Jeanette Wed Amid Roaring Film Mob

GENE RAYMOND AND JEANETTE MACDONALD

Flee Crowd of 15,000 for Secret Spot Prior to Sailing for Honeymoon in Honolulu June 26.

By The Associated Press

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 17 — Hollywood's "perfect pair," Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond, began their married life at some secret spot today, after a wedding that shattered every movie colony record for excitement, extravagance and mob scenes.

They will have a Honolulu honeymoon, sailing June 26.

More than 15,000 persons massed around the fashionable Wilshire Methodist Episcopal church last night when the ceremony took place. Three hours before the appointed time, their automobiles choked every street for a mile around.

By 9 o'clock, the throng, cursing, sweating and struggling with 100 policemen, had clotted the boulevard so badly that it took a herculean effort to bring a thin stream of cars through.

The jam delayed the bridesmaids 40 minutes.

Inside the church, approximately 1,000 top-ranking stars and celebrated film figures were getting restless.

Men began to saw their necks on stiff, formal collars as they craned around for some sign that the ceremony was to start. Women tapped gold-shod feet with impatience.

Outside, the crowd was all but out of hand. Stout manila rope creaked as they strained to get into the street. A woman fainted. A child, knocked down, screamed with terror.

As each limousine drew near, there would be a surge forward. The people wanted to see who was in it. "Ooo—Mary Pickford and Buddy Rogers," "there's Nelson Eddy," "isn't that Clark Gable?"

Through the front door, they could hear the preliminary organ music. It went on and on. Long past the moment set, the organist played and Nelson Eddy, who was scheduled to sing, waited in the chancel.

One by one, the bridesmaids struggled through.

Meanwhile, the guests, who packed every inch of the mammoth church, had time to see the decorations. Even Hollywood was awed.

There were nearly a million roses. Six candelabra, each bearing seven slender tapers, burned in the chancel. The middle aisle

Rebels Seize 3 Shiploads of Starved War Refugees

Craft Carrying Women and Children "Crying for Something To Eat" Fails To Reach Bay.

By The Associated Press

HENDAYE, France — Spanish Frontier, June 17—Insurgents reported today their ships blockading Bilbao had captured three government shiploads of 3,000 refugees fleeing the besieged Basque capital, many of them children "crying for something to eat."

The insurgent besiegers, with their armies reported to have effected their crossing of the river Nervion at two places in their drive to bottle up Bilbao, said the three ships were taken when they attempted to slip out of the mouth of the Nervion into the Bay of Biscay.

The refugees, mostly women and children, were described as being "in a pitiful condition."

Five Ships Try to Flee

Five ships, the insurgents said, attempted to run the blockade but were unable to leave the estuary because of the close cordon Generalissimo Francisco Franco has drawn about the long beleaguered city.

Two of the vessels gave up the attempt to reach a haven at Santander to the west and turned back, but the insurgent warships were said to have captured the other three and taken them to Pasajes.

"They were gaunt and many of them sick," the insurgents said of the refugees.

The women were in rags and their children cried for something to eat. Their great agony was shown by the lines in their faces."

As the Spanish civil war ended its tenth month, insurgents declared the battle for the important northern industrial city had entered its "decisive phase" with the crossing of the Nervion river both north and south of the city.

Time Required for Capture

They declared, however, that the city's capture within the day must not be expected.

"It takes time to occupy a city of 200,000 inhabitants, [illegible] by mountains which form natural defenses," they declared.

Border dispatches from both government and insurgent sources indicated Franco's crack legionnaires were storming the dominant heights west of the battered city.

The movement was likened to the closing of the two claws of a pincer to place the rich Bay of Biscay port within the insurgent grasp.

An official government communique declared insurgent planes had machine-gunned the western roads along which refugees were streaming to Santander in trucks, carts, and on foot, and forced the

TWO YOUTHS IN CUSTODY

Marion County Authorities Join in 4-Hour Hunt Resulting in Arrests.

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., June 17—Uptown Kenton was terrorized late yesterday afternoon by a wild automobile chase in which a patrolman fired a series of shots at a fleeing car, thought to have been driven by two youths fleeing after leaving a gasoline station at Arlington, near Findlay, without paying for gasoline they had ordered.

A four-hour search for them led to the arrest last night of two Tennessee youths, one of whom has been identified as the driver of the car which fled from Clyde C. Richards' filling station at Arlington without paying for gasoline.

The youths gave their names as Malcolm Peters, 21, and Hugh Wilson Crabtree, 19, both of Rockwood, Tenn. They denied both the theft and the flight from Kenton police.

Marion Co. Sheriff Out

Sheriff Fred Miller of Marion and a deputy, William H. Willis, were drawn into the search when they were notified the fugitives might be headed toward Marion. Sheriff Miller and Willis drove toward Meeker until they received a radio broadcast indicating the fugitives had been caught.

Kenton Patrolman William Johnson fired a series of shots at the fleeing car, which he pursued after meeting it at the outskirts of town. Kenton police had been notified to watch for the car, a stolen Michigan machine and Johnson was stationed at the edge of town on U. S. route 68 in a police cruiser.

The two cars sped through the business district at 60 miles an hour, with the police car gradually being outdistanced. The stolen car swerved into a car driven by Mrs. L. N. Pfeiffer of four miles east of Kenton, damaging it considerably, but did not stop. Mrs.

'HELLO GIRLS' RETURN TO JOBS IN WARREN

Pay Raises End Strike of 87 Operators and Picketing of Exchange.

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., June 17—Telephones jangled again today as 87 operators called off their strike, went back to their switchboards here with pay raises and began again to ask for your numbers.

For eight hours yesterday the operators, demanding wage increases totalling $24,000 a year, paraded in a jocular mood in front of the Warren Telephone Co. building.

The operators, members of the electrical workers' union, an American Federation of Labor affiliate, asked increases totaling $24,000 a year. The compromise reached last evening during what normally is the "crush" hour of date-making, provided increases totaling $12,000, retroactive to June 1.

TRIO WILL OPEN HEADQUARTERS AT CLEVELAND

E. F. McGrady, Charles Taft and Lloyd Garrison Picked by Miss Perkins.

ROOSEVELT OKAYS ACTION

Step Follows Davey's Plea to President To Take Hand in Emergency.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 17—Secretary Perkins announced today appointment of a three-man board to mediate all current steel disputes.

She named Charles P. Taft, Lloyd K. Garrison and Assistant Secretary of Labor Edward F. McGrady as a federal steel mediation board authorized to investigate, conduct hearings, make findings of fact and act as "voluntary arbitrator" if both sides in the controversy so request.

Miss Perkins said the board would set up headquarters at Cleveland immediately.

McGrady on Way to U. S.

She said McGrady, who is returning from Europe, would arrive in the United States Saturday night.

The secretary said she had been in communication with Taft and Garrison and that they would start work at once.

She said President Roosevelt had given his approval to her executive order creating the board.

"I discussed the matter with President Roosevelt Monday and at that time he agreed if no settlement was reached before we came to this, it should be done," the secretary said.

The secretary's administrative order declared "an emergency has arisen as a result of the labor dispute in the steel industry which tends to obstruct and interrupt the free flow of raw materials, semi-finished and finished steel products in interstate commerce."

"It is desirable," the order said, "to provide an additional means of accomplishing a reasonable solution to this controversy."

Acts To Keep Peace

The secretary said "in my judgment the interests of industrial peace require" that the board be created.

She said this action had been delayed because the administration had hoped that conferences called by Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio might produce an agreement which would lead to settlement of the strike.

The announcement was made after receipt by President Roosevelt of a telegram from Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio suggesting presidential intervention.

Meanwhile a sit-down strike threatened in the great steel mills of the Mahoning valley in Ohio.

John Owens, Ohio strike chief of the CIO announced that a projected back-to-work movement in Mahoning valley steel plants would inevitably result in sit-down strikes if the plants reopen before the union obtains signed contracts.

An undetermined number of steel workers returned to work in the embattled Cambria plants of the Bethlehem Steel Corp. at Johnstown, Pa.

Davey said all negotiations thus far had failed and that the strike had gone beyond the powers of one state to deal with it.

Shortly after reading Davey's telegram the President conferred with Secretary Perkins.

A presidential secretary said Davey's message was one of 20 or 40 that were being received at the White House daily from all sides in the controversy and from outside organizations.

The Davey telegram suggested that Mr. Roosevelt might find it advisable to call a conference of the interested parties, or set up the machinery by which the con-

MILK PERMITS TO BE MAILED

Applications To Be Sent Out To Producers, Dealers and Distributors.

PROGRAM STARTS JULY 1

Legal Action To Be Taken Against Persons Who Refuse to Comply.

County health authorities took first steps today toward putting into effect the newly-adopted milk code.

Applications for permits to be issued under the code will be placed in the mail Friday or Saturday, reaching nearly 100 milk producers, distributors and dealers, Dr. N. Slifrit, county health commissioner, said.

The applications are to be filled out by the recipients and returned as soon as possible to the county health office in the courthouse, either by mail or in person. Issuance of permits will begin July 1, Dr. Slifrit said.

A check-up will be made of all applications which are not returned and legal action will be taken against any persons refusing to comply, he warned. The milk code does not apply to milk dealers in Marion city but requires that all rural milk producers, grocery stores, restaurants, soda fountains, tourist camps and others handling milk, cream or milk products must have permits. The code does not pertain to ice cream.

All distributors in the county are required to grade their milk and label the bottles with the grade of the milk contained, Dr. Slifrit said.

Eugene Willey, county sanitarian, announced that any persons interested in inspecting a model type of dairy barn, which illustrates the type best suited for production of graded milk, will be taken on an inspection trip by county health officials. The barn presents remodeling ideas which can be adapted at low cost to the barns of small dealers, he said. The trip is scheduled for Monday morning, when Willey will take several Caledonia distributors and dealers to inspect the barn. All others interested are asked to call the county health office.

High Soviet Official Kills Self Amid Treason Purge

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, June 17—The suicide of the president of the white Russian Soviet republic, hundreds of arrests and the removal of hundreds of thousands from Communist party rolls were announced by the government yesterday as the greatest political purge in Soviet Russia's history went forward.

The government said Alexander G. Chervlakoff, 45-year-old head of the westernmost of the Soviet Union's 11 republics, killed himself for family reasons.

But his death followed closely his denunciation in Communist party meeting, the arrest of 45 of his colleagues for treason and the execution of the former commander of the white Russian garrison.

The continued denunciation of thousands of men, including many who have stood near the very top of the state and party organization, gave the Soviet union the appearance of being engaged in a gigantic, nation-wide Salem witch hunt.

Foreign observers still were bewildered by the storm of charges and the scope and ruthlessness of the purge. No foreigner believed most of the charges in full, but most agreed they were evidence of chaotic dissension within the Soviet regime and showed that many persons desired, if they were not

Dear Mr. President:

After nearly two weeks of diligent effort to bring about a reasonable settlement of the steel strike as it relates to Ohio companies, we find ourselves face to face with at least a temporary deadlock. STOCKS STAGE SLOW UPSWING

Recovery Sets In Following Selling Spree at Start of Trading.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 17 — A slow recovery set in today in the stock market after an early selling wave had washed leaders down fractions to 3 or more points.

The rallying move was attributed partly to Washington advices Secretary of Labor Perkins had called a press conference for later in the day to discuss the steel strike situation.

Covering mingled into moderate plus signs were U. S. Steel, Republic, Bethlehem, American Steel Foundries, and General Electric.

Prior to the morning relapse, prices improved slightly as Gov. Davey of Ohio and Mayor Shields of Johnstown appealed for presidential intervention in the steel strike and an undetermined number of workers returned to work in the Cambria plants of Bethlehem Steel without resulting disorders.

Bonds dipped and most commodities backed water.

Prominent shares on the temporary retreat were Baltimore & Ohio, Anaconda, American Smelting, Westinghouse, U. S. Rubber, Goodrich, Goodyear and American Telephone.

The British proposal for a new excess profits tax to pay for rearmament was received calmly both here and abroad and London stock prices were somewhat better.

Notwithstanding recent disappointing action of carrier shares, statistical observers found points in favor of this group. It was argued that, from the standpoint of traffic and net operating revenues, the still bright outlook for farm production and agricultural buying power adds to the belief later improvement for the principal roads is highly probable.

PUBLICITY USED TO END TAX DODGING people, sometimes incorporated and sometimes not.

"He purports to carry on business transactions with his family at arms-length.

"Often he convinces himself that these people actually exist."

(By dividing their incomes among several members of their families or among personal holding corporations, some taxpayers may receive lower-bracket rates, reducing their total tax payments.)

Morganthau also cited as examples of tax avoiders persons who run racing stables or other projects as a hobby, but claim business deductions on tax returns for their losses.

Some Send Funds Abroad

Morgenthau said that in some cases wealthy individuals had set up corporations abroad, transferring income to them and avoiding taxes.

"The process of fighting in the courts all the different schemes which may be woven around this concept is too slow for efficient tax administration," the witness continued.

"We intend to give examples of a large number of cases, not all of which would be upheld by the courts but many of which are sufficiently plausible so that they can delay and hinder tax collections."

WHEAT PRICES RISE AFTER EARLY SLUMP

Rains in Canada Insufficient While Wet Weather Delays American Harvesting.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 17—Late rallies of Chicago wheat prices today more than overcame earlier sharp downturns that were associated with reports of rains in Canada.

Unwelcome heavy rains in Kansas and Oklahoma were announced as delaying harvest and it was asserted in some quarters that the Canadian rains had proved to be unimportant. There were also late estimates that considerable Canadian wheat had been taken today for export, and that 20 loads of domestic winter wheat had likewise been bought for Europe.

At the close, wheat was ⅛ off to ⅝ up compared with yesterday's finish, July 1.10@1.10⅛, Sept. 1.09⅞@1.10, corn ⅜@⅝ advanced, July 1.12¼, Sept. 1.00@1.00⅛, and oats varying from ¼ decline to ⅛ gain.

POLICE BATTLE PAIR IN UPTOWN KENTON

Patrolman Johnson gave up the chase when the police car was considerably outdistanced. He stopped and sent warning on to Hallefontaine authorities that the car was headed in that direction on route 68.

A short time later the car was found abandoned three miles south of Kenton on route 68, a front fender pressing against a tire, apparently resulting from the collision with the Pfeiffer car. A search of the surrounding area gave no trace of the occupants.

The two suspects were arrested last night as they attempted to hitch-hike north out of Kenton. Police took them to the Arlington filling station, where Richards identified Crabtree.

Peters and Crabtree made complete denials to police, claiming they were in a roadhouse, "The Farm," near Kenton, at the time of the theft and chase. They claimed to be heading for Toledo and Detroit in search of work. Police are investigating their alibis.

Only the driver was visible in the car as it sped through Kenton, although there were two youths in it at the time of the theft at the gasoline station. Police expressed a belief that the second occupant had crouched low in the seat during the chase.

MARION PHYSICIANS HEAR DR. J. A. DODD

Speaks On Case Histories, Examinations at Pan-American Luncheon.

A paper on examination of patients and preparation of case histories was presented by Dr. J. A. Dodd yesterday at a monthly luncheon meeting of the Marion Chapter of the Pan-American Medical association in Hotel Harding. A discussion followed his talk.

Dr. Dodd described the value of a complete case history in enabling a physician to better evaluate the condition of the patient. The case history, he said should cover completely the patient's past habits, illnesses and influences. Combined with a physical examination, it is of great aid to the physician, he said.

The effect of nicotine on the heart and nervous system was described by Dr. Todd, who asserted that use of tobacco is harmful. The nervous systems of many persons also have been subjected to severe strain by the depressing economic conditions of recent years, Dr. Dodd said.

Dr. E. H. Morgan vice president of the chapter, presided. The meeting closed the chapter's summer season with the next meeting scheduled for Sept. 15.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THURSDAY, - - - - JUNE 17, 1937

They're Off Again.

The strategy of crowding legislators against a deadline will be given a whirl in Columbus next week, Gov. Davey has called the legislature into special session June 21. On June 30, existing appropriations will run out, thus putting pressure on the lawmakers to act quickly.

Rumor has it, however, that the economy bloc in the legislature isn't going to hurry, even if appropriations do run out. Among the sufferers, in that event, would be the state employes—most of them appointees of the Davey administration. They need the money—oh, how they need it!

So the legislators are off again, or will be shortly. Presently, the name calling will start; the charges and counter-charges will fly. Incidentally, there's one of them the state can get along without this time, or any other time in the future.

That's the entirely silly and fatuous assumption that, because the Davey administration wants to spend lots of money the next two years (107 million) and a handful of legislators, with support from organized business men, say a few millions should be pared off, therefore the Davey administration is liberal and the legislators are conservatives trying to destroy the state and all the fine people in it.

That's old fashioned stuff now, like the new deal's interest in economy. These days it's the spenders who are the stick-in-the-mud obstacles to progress. The most progressive thing any unit of government can do, under the circumstances, is to disprove the charge that all the new notions about political control are costing some thing like 10 times more than they're worth.

No Thrill of Life.

In 1933, the momentously complaint congress which had convened in March, adjourned by the middle of June. The 1934 session, which began in January, ended June 18. The 1935 session lasted until late in August. In 1936, because there had been a suspension of legislative activity for a campaign year, adjournment was easily possible by June 20.

This year, by comparison and in actuality, congress is a "painted ship upon a painted ocean." The ship of state feels no "thrill of life along her keel," nor quivers and shakes for any other reason. With a huge, undigested lump of work before them, congressmen are sucking their fingers apathetically and waiting for something—anything—to happen.

Apparently, they aren't scared of staying in Washington all summer, all fall and all next winter. The more stuff Mr. Roosevelt submits for their consideration, the more slowly they move. Nuisance taxes, income taxes, farm tenancy, wages and hours, executive reorganization, housing and judicial reorganization are lined up, but it's only this week that even the last one has been scheduled for final action. Observers say that no less than six weeks will be occupied by this one question alone.

What this means is anybody's guess. It is evident, of course, that congress, for some reason or other, is on a slowdown strike, but whether it is "waiting out" Mr. Roosevelt, whether he is "waiting out" congress, or whether both of them are "waiting out" someone or something else is becoming one of the deeper political mysteries of the year.

Shooting at a Mark.

It is interesting to note again the technique of the new warfare on civilian populations. Spain is making more than one kind of history in its civil war.

Long range guns and bombing planes now have been brought into play against Bilbao, which methodically will be hammered to pieces, unless its Loyalist defenders desert it.

Madrid, as may be seen in pictures of that beleaguered city, is rapidly becoming a ghastly ruin of shattered structures. When Paris was shelled and London bombed, during the World war, a new science of terrorism and destruction was born.

A city under attack is a conspicuous mark—fair and easy game for gunners in a radius of as much as 10 miles. Bombing planes, flying at high altitudes, can drop their cargoes and be off before defending planes can reach them. Civilian populations can be terrorized with the constant threat of death, either by explosion or starvation. National morale can be shattered by attacks on key cities and capitals—symbols of strength and unity.

Have military experts, we wonder, started to figure out yet what new deviltry to try when they have proved that cities are too dangerous to be tolerated any more in the kind of de-civilization they are hastening?

Stop and Go.

His name and influence aren't talked about so much as they used to be a few years ago, but Bernard M. Baruch still is a man with ideas.

Commencement oratory this year brought out one of them. Government, Mr. Baruch told Union college listeners, should step in to regulate booms and panics, but during the buildup for a boom and the letdown for a panic it should step out.

If Mr. Baruch could explain how to tell when the panic was over and the boom was starting and vice versa, also how to put any kind of governmental regulation on a stop-and-go basis, it would be tempting to explore his idea.

Where, for instance, can be found any reason to believe that government, once it gets its fingers into something, ever voluntarily lets go? Saving the "people" from a crisis is an eternal job, because the saviors can make one crisis lead to another, ad infinitum.

The President's Fiasco

BY WALTER LIPPMANN

THE report of the senate committee does more than to state with devastating logic and moral passion the reasons why the judiciary bill should not pass. It goes further and calls upon the senate to establish a precedent sufficiently impressive to discourage any one else in the future from attempting to make the judiciary subservient to the congress or the executive. "It is a measure," says the report, "which should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America."

Thus the majority of the committee ask the senate to do more than to put the bill aside. They ask for a rejection, as emphatic, so plain to every one, that this attempt to subvert the independence of the courts will have been turned into a decisive affirmation of their independence. They ask for a rejection which will remove the idea, entertained by some, that under the Constitution the congress has a kind of implied right to pack the Court. They are asking the senate to make this issue the occasion for a clarifying interpretation of its own powers in respect to the courts.

Mr. Lippmann

Stand on High Ground

This is high ground. But no senator who takes it will ever be sorry that he took it. None will ever regret that he has been numbered among those who defended triumphantly the essential principle of the American government—that all men, all officials, all agencies of government are under the law, and that, subject to the inalienable right of the sovereign people to amend the law, the law at any moment is what independent judges say it is.

Standing on this ground, they will be standing where the liberators of mankind have stood for three hundred years. They will be in good company, and they need have no qualms. For while there are sincere and earnest men who believe in this bill, they have been met in open debate, and so completely has the case for the bill been shattered that its nominal sponsors have been reduced to silence. The President's supporters who voted for the bill have not even ventured to turn in a report rebutting the report of the majority.

No doubt the outcome is a shock to the Administration. To have staked so much on such a daring gamble, and to have lost, is a serious blow to its prestige. The real question for the President is whether he wishes to repair his position or to make a bad situation worse.

If he drives ahead he will make it worse. For the men who have taken their stand against him on this issue have burned their bridges, and they know it. They realize quite well that if the President does not accept his defeat on this measure, there is between him and them a political war to the death.

They comprise the ablest progressives and the ablest conservatives among the Democrats in the senate, whereas the few really able senators supporting the President are manifestly sick at heart. So obviously is this the case that at the climax of the struggle, when every vote is needed and every ounce of influence, the vice president of the United States has left the field of battle and has gone to Texas to catch fish. If not even Mr. Garner will stay in Washington to fight for this bill, what must be the state of mind of the President's nominal supporters?

A Rest Is Needed

If the President is wise he will take his losses and quit. He will ask congress to pass only the most necessary measures at this session, and he will then allow it to adjourn to catch its breath, to take a rest, to enable every one to recover his poise and his good temper.

The government of the United States, with such incredible power concentrated in the President, has become too complicated for an ordinary human brain. Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers have no more than ordinary human brains, and it has become impossible for them to understand all the questions they have undertaken to deal with. They are at the point where they haven't the time or the energy to deal with their problems.

They need a rest and they need a pause. If they do not take a rest, if they just plunge ahead asking for new powers to deal with more and more problems, they will, because human nature cannot stand the pace, make one ghastly error after another.

The fiasco of the judiciary bill is due at bottom, not to some consciously sinister design, but to the sheer fact that Mr. Roosevelt thought it was a good idea, and never had the time or the energy to take the trouble to study it or to ask the advice of competent men. Nobody can make decisions as momentous as this in odd moments amidst a thousand distractions. And if there is anybody left who is a good enough friend of the President to tell him the truth, he will tell him now that the real lesson of the judiciary bill is that no mortal man can chew what the President has bitten off.

If Franklin Roosevelt's good angel would grant him a little humility, it would help him more than anything else.

News in 2,000 A. D.

BY PRESTON GROVER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, June 17—How would you like your great-grandchildren to read this item: "It was in the year 2,000 A. D. that the noted Japanese Admiral Perry-Moto sailed into San Francisco harbor with a fleet of super-dreadnaughts and told quaking-kneed petty officials that it was time for the United States to come out of its shell of isolation and be a part of the world.

"It was a complete re-enactment, in reverse, of the feat of American Admiral Perry in 1852.

"For 80 years the United States had been steadily growing in upon itself after it went over to Europe to fight for peace, only to find the European nations did not seem to care much whether they had peace.

"The United States refused to join the League of Nations partly because it proposed to enforce World war treaties that promised more war than peace. It refused even to join a world court designed to adjudicate international differences.

'Friend To None'

"A series of naval limitations treaties went to pot because of international mistrust. The United States then began to build enough ships to keep enemies far from its shores.

"Because war scares developed both in Europe and the Far East, the United States enacted a neutrality act 17 years after the World war. It was a solemn, fearful thing. The United States, no matter what, would help neither friend nor foe and would order its ships off the high seas in time of war for fear they might get into trouble.

"An international economic conference in 1933 was suddenly scuttled when the Roosevelt administration suspected that any discussion of stable money might jeopardize plans to rebuild domestic prosperity. Frightened even by European war preparations, the United States passed a resolution saying 'No more loans to Europe unless it pays what it already owes.'

"That was the capstone on a trade-isolation program framed earlier under the Smoot-Hawley Act which put tariffs so high that few nations could ship stuff here.

"Russia was forbidden to do communist missionary work in the United States and teachers in certain public schools were forbidden even to mention that alien doctrine.

'Japanese Laughed'

"It was about 1940 that war finally broke out in Europe and the United States, in a panic that it might be involved, forbade Americans to visit Europe, ordered all ships off the seas and virtually locked its ports to belligerent vessels.

"For fear public sympathy might be aroused for one side or another, radio waves were blanketed out and foreign news was strictly censored. Foreign trade was strangled to avert international commitments and to protect the home market. Foreign scholars with alien ideas were barred. Foreign films and literature were censored, then outlawed. European lecturers and finally foreign visitors were shut out.

"There had been no such isolation since the Japanese isolation of two centuries earlier. Even the Japanese had to laugh at America's obsolete guns and plans when Admiral Perry-Moto landed. He could have blown San Francisco harbor to bits, but he remembered Admiral Perry, 150 years earlier, had been a decent sort of a fellow."

Control of Disease

EPILEPSY, which has 500,000 victims in America alone, will be brought under control should experiments of Harvard university scientists prove successful.

Three newly discovered drugs, and new uses for old compounds, will in the opinion of these scientists eventually bring relief for sufferers of this dread malady.

Studies of brain waves were made by Dr. W. G. Lennox, assistant professor of neurology and member of the Harvard Medical School Epilepsy commission, working with Drs. F. A. Gibbs and E. L. Gibbs. Wavy lines traced on paper, showing the fluctuations in electrical activity accompanying physiological activity in the brain, make characteristic patterns in epilepsy, the investigators found.

The epilepsy patterns suggested the approach or presence of a veritable brain storm. Study showed the difficulty was with the frequencies of the brain waves. The mechanism that regulated these frequencies was apparently out of order. The condition could be compared to disturbances in heart or breathing rhythm.

The scientists stated the rate-regulating mechanism in the brain "behaves like an undamped pendulum; it tends to overshoot and to oscillate."

The new drugs—diphenylhydantoin, acetophenone, and benzophenone—are related chemically to carbolic acid, but are among the less poisonous "relatives," according to Dr. Houston Merritt, who announced discovery of the drugs in conjunction with Dr. Tracy J. Putnam.

Dr. Merritt said it would require six months to establish conclusively the effectiveness of the drugs on humans, in refusing to divulge details of the use of the drugs at a Boston hospital.

Their effectiveness was first determined in lower animals by tests on cats. Electric shocks, which normally would produce convulsions in these animals, failed to do so when these drugs had been administered.

Dr. Merritt said the drugs were first discovered when an attempt was made to develop an anti-convulsion drug from phenol. He said the principal difference between the new drugs and luminol, one of the phenol family, is that luminol makes the patient "sleepy." The new drugs are anti-convulsive, and at the same time do not leave the patient drowsy.

Congressional Insurgency Growing

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1937, By The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, June 17—It is difficult to describe in words the growing insurgency in the congress of the United States against the policies of President Roosevelt. The straw, so to speak, which has broken the camel's back in the direct partisanship which the President has manifested for several weeks past in behalf of the CIO.

Members of congress, particularly from the south, who have gone along enthusiastically with the new deal have become disturbed over the tendencies and implications of Mr. Roosevelt's proposals. Vice President Garner has gone home, discouraged because he cannot persuade Mr. Roosevelt of the error of his ways.

The President is aware of the insurgency, but unquestionably underestimates its character and scope. For several days, word has been coming officially from the White House that the President would insist on a vote on the supreme court bill at this session. After the devastating report filed by the 10 members of the senate judiciary committee, demolishing the President's argument for enlargement of the supreme court, it might have been thought that Mr. Roosevelt would be content to drop the issue.

But Mr. Roosevelt's insistence on a vote, even though he knows it may go against him, is but the beginning of a challenge to the courageous men in the senate which may awaken the whole nation to disregard party lines and support those individuals, irrespective of party, who have placed principle above ambition.

The reason why Mr. Roosevelt wants a vote on the court bill is that he wants to put the members of his own party "on the spot." He is represented as believing that, after the vote on the court bill, congress might well adjourn, and then the President would undertake to explain to the nation and to the constituents of the senators in their particular states just why his program of reform, as he sees it, has been supposedly blocked by a failure to reorganize the judiciary.

Avoid Record Vote

Most members of congress do not want a record vote. They do not see any sense in having any vote because they believe the debate has been, in effect, disposed of by the report of the senate committee.

The President, on the other hand, is said to be intent on punishing politically those who disagree with him and wants to carry the issue to the country. His argument for consenting to an adjournment of congress at this time would be that there was no use trying to pass any legislation until the supreme court was infused with "new blood." Lately, the idea of "young" blood has been superseded by the use of the phrase "new blood."

Certainly, so far as the President is concerned, the question raised by the controversy over the plan to enlarge the supreme court is a fundamental one of party solidarity. If the President believes the time has come to split the Democratic party and compel a realignment of groups, then the supreme court controversy affords the best fighting ground that has been available for the purpose in many years.

The President's opponents inside and outside congress would welcome a battle on the question of "packing" the supreme court. The senate committee report furnishes the platform on which Republicans as well as Democrats are willing to stand. It is one of the greatest state papers in all the history of the American republic. The ten men who signed it, along with the others in the senate who oppose the bill, will stand out in future history as ranking along with the courageous men who dared to declare America's independence of a British king, risking their lives and their fortunes and their sacred honor for what they deemed to be a principle of human freedom and democracy.

There are some interesting angles to the present situation which can hardly be overlooked if the President carries the battle

"Feminine Meows" on Stage

BY O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, June 17—From a box office standpoint at least, the beautiful Clare Boothe carried off the season's playwrighting honors in her play so hilariously packed with feminine meows and called "The Women." All the well-sharpened critical javelins so fiercely hurled fell blunted.

There are many versed expertly in dramaturgy who see in her opus a bitter realism that the critics entirely muffed. She was shooting higher than was noticed in the first hurried criticisms. So she could just now, if so minded, titter just a bit cynically behind the fabled fan.

But those who know Miss Boothe say she bears no grievance. The public liked her play and paid handsomely to see it. In many ways she has become one of the most fortunate ladies in the New York scene. And all in a year. Before that she was known chiefly as a contributor to Vanity Fair.

During the past year she not only turned in a play that keeps a waiting line at the box office, but married the spectator weekly magazine maker, Henry Luce, who in a few years has amassed one of the largest publishing fortunes out of Time, Fortune and Life.

Bob Ripley recently revealed why he clung to single blessedness, in a magazine for bachelors. It is a simple explanation: One could not expect a woman to go gallivanting off to all far corners of the earth on a moment's notice in quest of the outlandish and odd. Yet, as a matter of fact, Rip is extremely home conscious. He has always lived in apartments where he could express domestic cheer. Aside from his penthouse atop the Athletic Club, he has a 20-room mansion on a vast estate on Bion Island, off Mamaroneck, in Long Island Sound. But Ripley is not averse to woman's claims. Almost always in public he is squiring with much gallantry something especially slick and saucy.

I have often thought one of Ripley's most interesting "Believe It Or Nots" concerned the depth of his own cartoon idea. In the beginning he used to turn out one a week along with his sports cartoons. When he suggested he do the "believe-its" daily his managing editor on the old Globe thought he would be jumping the gun and could not possibly winnow enough ideas to last more than five years. Ripley has been going hell's bells for 16 years and has on hand at the moment enough ideas to carry him for 100 years. And has just scratched the surface.

It is rather interesting that the most convulsive laughter over the Sunday "funnies" comes from the usually placid Chinese children in Chinatown. Every Sabbath before Chinatown stirs from its sluggish sleep the children are out on the curb with the comic sections spread before them and almost hysterical with glee. Circulation men say there is no response to such humor just like it. And oddly enough Japanese children are not at all interested. The Chinese children apply the nicknames of the various strip characters to their playmates.

Homer Croy is a local boy who made good in a big way with the residents of his home town, Maryville, Mo. The citizens have erected just outside the village the largest sign in the world (14 by 20 feet) ever erected to a living author. It reads: "Stop in Maryville, home of Homer Croy, world famous author of 'West of the Water Tower' and 'They Had to See Paris'." Paducah, Ky., erected one of the largest hotels for a city of its size and named it the Irvin Cobb. Sauk Center, Wisconsin, is to have a public highway named for its literary celebrity, Sinclair Lewis. Most authors receive such honors only after they have long moldered in their graves.

They were talking, a group of lawyers, about confused witnesses at the Coffee House club. And John Golden told this: "Now sir," said the counsel to the witness, "did you or did you not, on the date in question, or at any time previous or subsequently, say or even intimate to the defendant or anyone else, whether friend or mere acquaintance, or in fact a stranger, that the statement imputed to you, whether just or unjust, and denied by the plaintiff, was a moment or otherwise? Answer—did you or did you not?"

"Did I or did I not what?" answered the witness weakly.

Farmers Desert "Dust Bowl"

Thousands on Move in Search of New Homes.

BY NED RUSSELL
United Press Correspondent

PHOENIX, Ariz., June 17—The devastating drouths in the nation's "dust bowl" the past few years have driven thousands of ruined farmers and their families on a new "push to the west" in search of happier and richer pastures.

They suffer hardships reminding of stories they read of the "49ers" who "pioneered the west in ramshackle covered wagons, hoping to find gold and happiness in the streams of California.

They come from Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas.

But this time, the "modern pioneers" are loading their families and possessions into battered automobiles, heading for the west—and hoping.

Many have settled in Arizona and are working in the lettuce, strawberry, cantaloupe and cotton fields. Others—and they are thousands—never had a destination.

Some Favor Northwest

Still others hope eventually to reach the Pacific northwest where they feel they can find security and contentment in the fertile hills and valleys.

All tell the same story of their departure: "We left because of the drouth."

Most say they endured the hardships of the crop-shattering dust storms "until we lost everything."

The task of finding shelter and food on their desperate trek isn't easy, they agree.

A family that settled some months ago on the outskirts of Glendale, Ariz., a suburb of Phoenix, is Mr. and Mrs. A. M. McLaughlin of Buffalo, Okla. The family raised wheat—until the dust storms came.

"We tried time and again to raise crops, but the dust storms and drouths came along and caused us to lose everything. We are looking for a home now," they said.

The McLaughlins have two children. Their livelihood is gained picking strawberries.

Settle Down in Shanties

Many families in the Salt River valley here have settled in crude, makeshift "shack villages." Children toddle about, some half naked and some dressed in rags. The men, when not working in the fields, sit about on boxes, smoking pipes or cigarets, and swapping their "dreams."

Federal relief authorities, cognizant of the situation, estimated recently that 100,000 farmers are "on the move" westward, fleeing the area where their crops and business were ruined.

One Washington official was quoted as saying:

"Most of these farmers do not want to go on relief. They are seeking new homes where they can follow the only occupation they know—farming."

Dr. Paul B. Sears, University of Oklahoma professor, declared in a recent address at Chicago that one out of four homes in the "dust bowl" has been abandoned. He urged the federal government to buy drouth damaged land and return it to a "non-productive" state.

He said but one-half of the 12,000,000 acres of farm land is in use. One-fifth, he said, has been deserted.

Glancing Backward

TEN YEARS AGO.

It was Friday, June 17, 1927.

Tommy Armour, a Scotchman who learned to play golf in the United States, won the U. S. open championship by defeating Harry Cooper, 76 to 79, in an 18-hole playoff at Oakmont Country club in Pittsburgh.

Col. Charles Lindbergh, after his famous "We," returned to St. Louis to receive the plaudits of his friends and well-wishers for his solo flight to Paris.

A gypsy fortune-teller, fined and ordered out of town by Mayor Hazen for telling fortunes without a license, was soon back in the city—this time in the city hospital suffering from injuries in an auto accident (as she carried out the mayor's order.

Three Marion youths, Fred Haberman III, Richard Haberman and James Mitchell, were back in Marion after a futile trip to Washington to see Charles Lindbergh as he returned from Paris. The youths arrived in Washington just an hour after Lindbergh had paraded through the streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl McCaslin returned to their home in Indianapolis after visiting Mrs. J. C. Hoover of South Main street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Sunday, June 17, 1917.

An order to continue taking recruits was received by First Lieut. LeRoy Miller, recruiting officer for "D" Co., Ohio National Guard. The instructions came from Col. Hough of Delaware, ordering all companies in the Fourth district to continue recruiting activities.

The Marion Cubs defeated Morral, 11-0, in a game at Morral. The Marion batteries were Crabtree and Garnes and for Morral, Mayo and Pennell. Crabtree allowed only three hits and struck out 12 men.

Clyde Riley, newly engaged choir director of Epworth M. E. church, directed the choir for the first time. He succeeded Albert Lackley, who left Marion when he enlisted in the army.

Dr. Elliott Osgood, a missionary to China, spoke at the Central Christian church.

The city was shivering as the temperature dropped to 55 degrees.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gibson of Calcutta, India, arrived for a visit with Mrs. Gibson's aunt and uncle, Mrs. William B. Voorhies and W. W. Nelson of South Main street.

A bank is being built in China into which persons can drive in automobiles and transact business without leaving their seats.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

(Copyright, 1937, Marie de Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Kay Crandon, who runs her own ranch, is stretched out on a mountain ledge when, far below, she spots a man surreptitiously piling brush against a dead pine. She recalls the firebug the county has been hunting and hurries down quietly to catch him. Pulling her gun, she orders him to "Throw 'em up!" Deeper, she sees defeated, he explains he hopes to get a job fire fighting to buy food for his mother and sister. Kay believes him when he says it is his first attempt to set a fire. On impulse, she slips her gun back into its holster.

CHAPTER TWO
Quick Thinking

AN incredulous look of surprise flashed over the man's face before he turned it away from her. Then, after a moment's tense silence, he said, in a muffled voice, still with his back to her: "Why did you do that?"

"Because I believe you," Kay answered, "and perhaps I can help you to find some other way."

With a rush of words, the man's story poured out.

"They've foreclosed on me," he explained, "and we've got to get out next week. I've got a blind sister and an invalid mother. I'm not married, thank God!" Kay shuddered at his bitter tone. "I've sold everything we have, even my gun. I figured a week's fire fighting pay would get us away—" he broke off with a despairing shrug.

Kay had inherited her father's quality of quick decision, and of standing by that decision once it was taken. Something about this man had stirred her sympathy and made her believe in him. Now, as she listened to his story, she felt her original intuition confirmed. By the time he broke off, her resolution was taken.

"It's a rotten trick to foreclose on any one at a time like this," she tactfully let indignation take the place of sympathy in her tone, "but I tell you what you can do. There's a couple of cabins on our ranch, and you can move your family there, if you'd like to join our outfit. I can't pay much, but you won't go hungry."

"You Won't Be Sorry"

When the man's answer finally came, after a long silence, it had a husky break in it.

"You're square all right," he managed to get out. "You won't be sorry, either. I—"

"That's settled, then," Kay waved away from his thanks. "What's your name? And where are you living now?"

"Ted Gaynor's my name, and I'm living over by Blackfoot creek."

"And I'm Kay Crandon, of the Lazy Nine." Kay held out her hand.

"You won't be sorry," Ted Gaynor repeated, as he gave it a mighty grip.

"I know I won't." Kay cut back through the woods to the trail, with the new member of her outfit beside her. "You'd better come on now, and have a look at the ranch," she suggested, "then you'll know what you're getting in to."

She laughed to relieve the tension, and was amazed at the difference his slow answering smile made in his drawn face. Why, he was almost good looking, and much younger than she had taken him to be at first! He couldn't be more than 25 at the most, she decided.

"I left my horse off the trail a half a mile or so farther down," he said as they came out on the trail and he glanced up to where Flicker was patiently waiting. "I'll join you down there."

As he finished speaking, he suddenly stiffened, and following his gaze, Kay saw a lone rider at the head of the trail. He passed Flicker, and made swiftly for them at a quickened pace.

Kay noted that he had black hair and eyes like her companion, but here the likeness ended. The newcomer had a stalwart rangy figure, with broad shoulders in marked contrast to his slim hips. A healthy color glowed under his tan, and his bearing had all the assurance of success and self-confidence.

As he neared them, his gaze rested on Kay with frank admiration and approval. Then, as he glanced at her companion and took in his gaunt face and general shabbiness, a look of surprise and uncertainty flashed into his eyes.

He touched his hat to Kay as he pulled up beside them.

"I didn't expect to run into company up here," he began genially. "I'm Tom Runyon, the new fire patrol for this area."

Kay felt the man beside her stiffen as she answered the unspoken question behind the newcomers' words.

"My name's Kay Crandon." She felt the color flooding her cheeks in spite of herself at his searching look and her mind flew from one idea to another for a plausible explanation of Ted Gaynor's presence. The fact that his horse was hidden off the trail made it all the more suspicious and complicated, in case Tom Runyon should elect to go along with them.

She knew very well that if suspicion were fastened on Ted Gaynor everyone would be sure he was guilty of the other fires that had taken place. Believing, as she did, that this was his first attempt, and that he would never make another, she was determined to save him, now that she had undertaken the job.

Telltale Brush Pile

A sudden inspiration flashed in her mind, and she added, without perceptible hesitation, "I'm thinking of taking up some timber land up here, and Ted Gaylord has been looking over it for me."

Without looking round, she could feel the taut figure at her side relax.

"Oh, I see." Tom Runyon focused his attention on her again, to her great relief. "You're the owner of the Lazy Nine," he went on, smiling at the picture Kay made with her brilliant coloring set off against the dark background of pines. "I've heard about you. But why don't you wait another month before you take up any timber land? You're liable to buy up a forest fire, if you get it now."

"Not with you for fire patrol!" Kay looked up demurely from under her long dark lashes. The more she could keep his attention centered on her the better, in this danger spot.

He gave an appreciative chuckle. "You've said it! Firebugs aren't going to have the clinch they've been having any more." Suddenly his eyes wandered past her, and he stiffened in his saddle, as he peered through the woods. "Hullo! What's that?"

"What? I don't see anything."

"Looks to me like a pile of brush." He swung off his horse as he spoke. "Just wait a minute until I investigate."

Tom Runyon strode off through the woods.

DOC PARSHALL HAS CLASSY RACE STABLE

Points to Success of Training Horses at Pinehurst, N. C. Track.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 17—Dr. Hugh M. Parshall of Urbana, Ohio's premier harness horse reinsman, goes to the grand circuit wars this season with what he rates "the classiest stable of hoof-pounders" he has tutored in several years.

And "doc," while one of the youngest trainers and drivers on the harness turf, has a canny way of knowing whereof he speaks.

Parshall broke a tradition in his equine technique last winter when he shipped 22 head from Urbana, his usual training ground, to the half-mile stamping ground at Pinehurst, N. C., and Parshall said he might do the same thing again next year, for he believes the balmy atmosphere of the southland helped put his colts and aged performers in tip-top form for the opening of hostilities at the Fort Miami track in Toledo June 28.

The grand circuit, which opens at the Lucas county metropolis and then shifts to Cleveland's North Randall track for the week of July 5, has been taken in stride by Parshall for nearly a decade. The crack Buckeye reinsman last year earned top honors for the entire country as a race-winning driver, and he said he hoped to repeat this season.

Both of Parshall's Hambletonian stake candidates, Mr. Chips which he owns, and Herold, owned by Will Hughes of Cleveland, are eligible for the $6,000 matron stake at Toledo's inaugural meeting, and for the $7,000 championship stallion stake at North Randall. Parshall's skill with Muscletone (now European champion) and Lord Jim, winner of the 1934 Hambletonian, placed him in the front rank of colt mentors.

A device to be connected to an oil burner transformer has been invented to shield radio sets from interference during the ignition periods of electrically ignited residence heating burners.

INSURRECTION IN CONGRESS GROWING

to the country. Large groups which have benefitted from the administration's spending, or from its partisanship will stay lined up with the administration, but there are large independent groups which will not. It is doubtful whether the so-called masses have paid much attention anyway to the supreme court controversy because it is, after all, an abstract question to many persons. But the thinking people have concerned themselves about it, and once they are united, they can swing the balance of power.

If 3,500,000 Change

If, for example, only 7,000,000 out of the 27,000,000 who supported Mr. Roosevelt in November, 1936, were to switch to the side of the 17,000,000 who opposed Mr. Roosevelt at the polls, there would be a numerical majority on the side of the opponents of the President's program to break down judicial independence.

This does not actually require a change of 7,000,000 at all, but an actual change of a minimum of 3,500,000 persons who voted for Roosevelt last autumn. Judging by the letters received on Capitol Hill such a change has been slowly but surely in the making. Democratic senators who supported Mr. Roosevelt last autumn have told me that never in their experience in congress has there been such a small received as that which set forth the citizens' opposition to the President's tampering with the judicial system of the country. The letters were not propaganda, as hardly any two seemed alike, but were written from different points of view and with mature deliberation. Undoubtedly the thinking people of America wrote to congress. That's the group which swayed half the Democratic members of the senate from the President's side. There probably was very little, if any, change in the so-called mass groups which vote by emotion or through the control of political machines or through labor organization influence. It was a victory for reason and perseverance as well as intelligence.

The fact that these Democrats risked the possible punishment of the new deal and the reprisals of the administration which can support rival candidates against them for renomination next year is a sign that, at last, in the American congress, there have arisen men of the same patriotic zeal and courage, as those men who founded the republic more than 150 years ago. If Mr. Roosevelt wants to carry the issue to the country, the men who are opposed to him on this question are ready for the battle.

Hoover-Cox Nuptials Read in St. Mary Church Service

THE marriage of Miss Margaret Hoover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Hoover of 366 East George street, to Carman Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cox of Hamilton, was solemnized this morning at 8:30 o'clock, in St. Mary Catholic church. The pastor, Rev. Father William J. Spickerman, read the ceremony and was the celebrant for the nuptial high mass.

The bride, who was escorted by her father, was lovely in a wedding gown of pink satin with a matching veil of tulle. Her gown had a high neckline and was made with a long tunic which was graduated into a long train, and was fitted in princess lines with tiny matching buttons down the front. Over her finger-tip veil was a shorter one which fell below her shoulders, and both were held with a tiara of matching tulle caught across the back with tiny matching flowers. She carried a bridal bouquet of lilies of the valley tied with a white satin bow.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Faydell Welch, and her bridesmaid was her niece, Miss Mirjam Lusch. Mrs. Welch was costumed in orchid taffeta fashioned on lines similar to the bride's gown and she wore a coronet of matching taffeta. Her flowers were Johanna Hill roses and lavender gladioli tied with ribbon in the same shade as the roses.

Miss Lusch's gown was of aqua marine taffeta made princess style. She wore a matching twist caught with pink feverfew in her hair and carried a taffeta muff in the same shade. The muff had a corsage of feverfew and Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. Cox's best man was Faydell Welch, and ushering were John Lusch and Robert Y. Smith.

Bouquets of white lilies filled the vases on the altar, and on either side of the chancel entrance was a white basket filled with lilies. Miss Fanny Piacentino, organist, played "Processional," by Read, as the bridal party entered the church, and for the recessional played "March Romaine."

Following the ceremony there was a small reception and wedding breakfast for 30 at Hotel Harding. The bride's mother wore blue lace with white accessories, and the bridegroom's mother was in navy blue chiffon and white accessories. Both wore corsages of gardenias. The table, arranged in a U-shape, was centered with a wedding cake and white flowers and greenery completed the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox will spend their honeymon at the lakes. For traveling the bride chose a black and white linen redingote costume with white accessories. After June 24 they will be at home at 212 Miami street in Logansport, Ind.

Guests from out of the city included Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cox, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Trautman of Hamilton, and P. J. E. O'Brien of Middletown, N. Y.

Fat Girls Get The Go-By—Slim Girls Win Men

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starving, Diets, or Back-Breaking, Brutal and Rolling Exercises.

Here's a way to get rid of ugly fat that works hand in hand with Nature. Millions of people are losing millions of pounds of flabby flesh and getting back slender figures, without the need of starvation diets, back-breaking exercises.

Medical science has discovered that one of the causes of too much fat lies in a tiny gland. It is the duty of this tiny gland to make about one drop and a half every day of a vital fluid. This helps the body "burn up" food and excess fatty tissues just as a good draft of air helps the furnace to burn up coal without forming "clinkers". If this little gland doesn't make this drop and a half of fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat.

Doctors correct this condition by feeding this little gland the substance it lacks—as Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on this same method. Millions are using them with success. They are prepared by a famous medical laboratory. Their formula is published in every package so you know what you are taking.

So don't waste time and money with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Go to your druggist today and get a box of Marmola. Try this simple, easy way to get rid of excess fat.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge Wires; Lillian To Bring Family to the Camp.

I HAD no chance until evening to put into effect the scheme I had performed for bringing about the fulfillment of the boyish dream, which I knew my carefully planned reference to the plans of the Underwoods had aroused in the hearts of Dicky's two older nephews.

Dicky, in the manner of most men on vacation, was like a buzzing mosquito in his continuous demands upon my time and attention—a lovable mosquito, it is true, but impossible to dodge.

After supper, however, when he ensconced himself upon the porch swing with book and pipe, I found my chance to slip away on the plea of getting some necessities from the general store. Taking the car, I motored down to the Gibbs home, the nearest place where I could get hold of a telephone.

"I want to send a telegram," I told Nell Gibbs after our cordial exchange of greetings, "but I haven't had a chance to write it out yet. May I use your desk for a few minutes?"

"Help yourself," she said, smiling, seating myself at her neatly-kept desk. I busied myself for several minutes with the composition of a night letter to Lillian in New Brunswick. It was not a message requiring an answer, and I knew that it might not reach her for two or three days, as the address to which I was sending it was one which she was not scheduled to reach for another day or two. She had given me a list of stopping places where she could be reached on the trip she and Harry, with Marion and Carolyn, were taking, and kept me promptly informed of any change in their schedule.

Madge Seeks Privacy

But it was a message requiring some thought, nevertheless, and it was several minutes before I drafted one which satisfied me. When I had finished, I looked around the room for I had to telephone the message from the Gibbs family phone, and I dreaded small Betty's sharp ears. She was not to be seen, however, and I rose and moved toward the telephone.

"This is off the record," I said laughing, as I took down the receiver.

"So is Betty," her mother retorted with an answering laugh, "so you can go ahead with no qualms. She's upstairs in her room, under orders not to come down until supper time. She simply had to be squelched."

Telephone Message

"Poor Betty!" I said, but I am afraid there was no real sympathy in my heart. I was really glad that there was no possibility of her hearing the telegram. I knew that if she did hear it, she would be extremely apt to make revealing comments upon it to the boys. In another minute, I was dictating my telegram:

"Will it be possible for you to plan a stop off as many days as you can at camp before you return home? Want you, Harry, Marion and Carolyn, and nobody else. This is important. I cannot be here to welcome you. Important business takes Dicky and me to New York day after tomorrow. But Katherine and the children will be here. She will explain reason for this message when you arrive. Please do not answer this. Just come if you can. Katherine will explain that also. Don't alter your plans materially. But if you can do so conveniently, please do as I ask. Love, Madge."

I hung up the receiver, and turned to see Nell Gibbs looking at me with dismayed face.

"I couldn't help hearing, of course, and while the most of the message is already forgotten, I cannot help but exclaim dramatically over one sentence."

She struck a grotesquely pleading attitude, and flung out a hand toward me.

"Say it ain't true," she said, "that you're going home day after tomorrow."

"I'm afraid I am," I told her, and moved toward the door. The phone rang insistently, and Mrs. Gibbs stopped me with a gesture.

"This may be for you people," she said, and after a second's listening, held out the receiver to me with the terse words, "It is."

Where farmers down by rain probably never will get properly established, favorable weather will make the outlook for the entire county's crop that has been forecast about 20 per cent normal or 10 bushels to the acre. Considering the acreage in proportion to the total crop Mr. Anderson said. He added that it is a little early to predict how the wheat will fill out, but that indications point to a good crop.

Since rain has been expected that the heavy rain would cause wheat to develop large straws, although observers said that in this section rain has not happened generally. In the past, even when the crop did have large straws, good wheat crops still were obtained, they said.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Sciatica.

AT SOME time or other, each of us has suffered from backache. Yet, no one can appreciate the discomfort, the real distress it is capable of producing unless he is a chronic sufferer from sciatica.

Many persons suffer from this affliction. Yet, few of its victims take the necessary steps to get relief. Indeed, few realize that the cause of sciatica can be removed.

There must be a visit to the doctor and a complete physical examination. Unfortunately, many persons avoid the physician as long as possible. They resort to the use of patent medicines, perhaps in many instances obtaining temporary relief, but that is not a cure.

Sciatica, as its name indicates, is an irritation or inflammation of the sciatic nerve. This nerve is one of the largest in the body. It runs down the back of the thigh where it is embedded between the deep muscles of the leg. It divides into two branches at the knee joint and supplies the nerves under the knee, even continuing on to the toes.

From the description of this nerve, it will be seen that because of its size and position it is susceptible to blows, infections and inflammations. In fact, almost any infection in the body may set up an irritation of this nerve. For this reason, persons who suffer from infected teeth, gums, tonsils, adenoids, nasal sinuses and other infections may also be victims of sciatica.

Although backache is the most common symptom, the sufferer may complain of other vague, annoying discomforts of the thigh and leg. As a rule, the ache shoots along the course of the sciatic nerve and may extend from the buttock to the leg. The suffering may be so severe as to require the administration of an opiate.

I have seen sufferers from this condition confined to bed for several weeks. Fortunately, not all forms of sciatica are so severe as this. The patient may be free from pain for some time, and then suddenly be stricken with an extremely severe and persistent backache. Often such an attack may follow excessive fatigue or physical exertion.

Many persons confuse sciatic pain with pain in the kidney. Though kidney pain may be confined to the back, it rarely is as low down and as persistent as the pain of sciatica. If you have pain of any sort and are unable to locate its cause, it is best for you to consult with your doctor. He will determine what the trouble really is.

Rain Halts Activities At Scout Camp Today

The Annual Harding Lewis Girl Scout day camp in Vernon Heights was rained out this morning, but hopes were high for a bright sun Friday.

Miss Marguerite Hill, camp director, said this morning nothing short of a miracle would make the site campable in time for a program this afternoon, and that if it didn't rain Friday the camp would open at the regular hour at 9 a. m. Fifty-seven girls were in camp yesterday.

Potato puppets were the high spot of handicraft art yesterday and—believe it or not—"angels on horseback" will be the project for Friday.

The puppets were made by the girls interested in handicraft and dramatics and will be used in presenting original playlets Friday.

A bacon and melted cheese concoction, guaranteed to make anyone's mouth water, is the "angels on horseback" piece de resistance on Friday's menu which will be prepared by the Navajo and Hopi units. The two units will prepare the noonday lunch. Later, probably next week, the Wyandot unit will do the cooking.

Two playlets have been written for the puppets' show. One, "Tom Thumb" is the combined work of a group of girls, the other is an Indian story by Lucille Stucky.

The Hopi unit girls are making a temporary outdoor kitchen at the camp and someone with a Winchell bent for word coining, dubbed the kitchen, "Hopi-Eat."

Miss Rhea King visited the camp yesterday and taught the girls the Virginia reel.

Parlor for Cows Makes Milk Pure Near Mt. Gilead

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, June 17—C. C. Wilson, operator of a dairy farm two miles east of Mt. Gilead, is the first Morrow county farmer and one of the first in this section of Ohio to install a "milking parlor" an innovation in milking procedure designed to assure pure milk and at the same time avoid the expense involved in the construction of a barn to be used solely for milking.

Health authorities in Marion and other nearby counties have inspected the "parlor" in the last week.

It is a specially built room in the barn with a double ceiling and cow proof walls and a concrete floor. There is nothing in the room except the feed trough which is filled from the standing room outside so that no feed odors can be absorbed by the milk.

The floor is concrete and the room is provided with fine screened large windows which admit the required light and provide for good ventilation. The walls and floor are whitewashed.

Only four cows are brought in at a time. Two are milked and the milk transferred to the milk room before the others are milked. When the four are milked they are sent back to the standing room and four more are brought in.

SIGN 15 MEMBERS IN Y. M. C. A. DRIVE

Fifteen new memberships and two renewals were reported yesterday afternoon at the second meeting of youths who are working on the Y. M. C. A.'s boys' membership drive. The Indians, coached by William Woessner, heads the list of three teams in the number of points scored, rolling up a total of 127. Second is the Athletics, coached by Charles Caprino with 78 points and the Pirates coached by Woodrow Hartley scored 77 points.

The three teams are competing for a banquet to be given the winning team by the other two clubs. Ten points are awarded for a new membership or renewal and five for each $1 paid. The group will meet again Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock for another report meeting. The membership goal has been set at 50.

MT. GILEAD STATE LAKE OPENS TO ANGLERS JULY 1

Fishermen Must Obtain License Even Though They Use No Reel; Waters Very Well Stocked.

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, June 17—The state lake here will be a mecca for hundreds of fishermen on Thursday, July 1, when the lake is opened to the Waltons.

Though the bass season opened Wednesday no fishing will be permitted in the lake until the opening day.

The interest shown in the lake, which several times brought hundreds here for the first few days of the season, is as great as usual, Guy Thompson, Morrow county game protector, said today. He expects as large a crowd as in any previous year, he said.

Anglers must, under the new law, have a license even though they use no reel, Thompson pointed out and no one will be permitted to fish in the lakes without a license.

Officially open July 1 many enthusiasts are expected to anticipate the opening by coming in on the night of Wednesday, June 30, and await the midnight bell to begin fishing.

The lake this year is especially well stocked with bass, crappies, blue gills, perch and other varieties. One reason for this is that the upper of the two lakes was drained and since fishing was never permitted in the upper lake the number of fish there was large. When the lake was drained the fish went over the dam to the lower and larger lake.

The upper lake was drained to blast out the stumps under a federal WPA project which has not yet been completed. These stumps are in the channel of the old millrace which formed the outer edge of the upper lake. They have not been taken out and the upper lake has not yet been filled.

Thompson said today that every effort will be made to give legitimate anglers an opportunity to enjoy the fishing but that violators of the law will be prosecuted. He particularly called attention to the fact that no one is permitted to disturb the turtles and the giant frogs which are an unusual feature of the lake.

The giant frogs which sometimes weigh as much as five pounds were originally brought here from Missouri several years ago. None have been added to the original stock and the number there now represents only the natural increase.

MISSING GIRL TIP RECEIVED BY POLICE

Police, who had been asked to assist in the search for Betty Jo Hogue, 14, of 931 North Main street, yesterday received a report from a Marion motorist that he had picked up a hitch-hiker of her description and taken her to Columbus. The girl was reported missing from her home Monday night and was last reported seen in the city Tuesday morning. The girl picked up by the motorist said she was going to Columbus to visit a brother who works there, police were told.

THREE CLASSES OF PEOPLE IN WORLD

The sanctified, the converted and the sinner are the three classes which inhabit the world, Rev. Clyde Williams of Olivet, Ill., told a large congregation at the First Church of the Nazarene revival service last night. "The sanctified do not fall back and are obedient to the whole will of God," he said. "The converted person quits the sin business and walks in the light of God. We are not compelled to go God's ways; we have the power of choice and there is a heaven to win and a hell to shun."

Mrs. Verna Cleveland sang. Meetings will continue each night at 7:30, through Saturday.

SPANIARDS ATTACK ITALIAN STEAMER

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 17—Lloyds' agent at Gibraltar cabled today that the Italian steamer Madda had been bombarded by Spanish government aircraft off Oran, Algeria, but that she was not hit.

The Madda, a 5,151-ton steamer out of Genoa, was damaged, however, from the concussion of the bomb explosions.

Her forepeak was reported flooded and her number one hold leaking. Pumps were holding back the water as the steamer put into Gibraltar.

There were no casualties aboard.

Gene Gunder pitched his way into the front ranks of the current season's softball hurlers, by turning in a no-hit game in St. Mary's, 24 to 0, victory over Christian at the President field last night. The win kept the Parochial team's season record unmarred by defeat and at the same time advanced their hold on the top spot of No. 2 Sunday School league.

The game was one which had been postponed since the opening round of competition, May 17. Other contests on city diamonds last night brought out four teams of the No. 1 Sunday School loop in games postponed from May 18. Wesley trounced Salem, 15 to 3, to run its string of consecutive victories to five, while Forest Lawn edged Trinity Baptist, 4 to 2, in the third game last night.

TODAY'S STAR IN SOFTBALL

Gene Gunder, St. Mary hurler, who last night became the third pitcher to turn in a no-hit game. Gunder blanked the Christian team, fanned nine batters and did not issue a single walk, in his team's 24 to 0 victory.

Gunder's no-hit performance for St. Mary, was the third of its kind this season. He retired the opposing Christian batters in order, turning in nine strike-outs without issuing a single pass to first. Other pitchers who have already accomplished the no-hit feat this season are Maynard Snyder and B. Leahey. Snyder, M. S. S. moundsman, halted the Osgood entry in the Industrial league and his team turned in a 24 to 0 victory, while Leahey, pitching for Wesley, stopped the Christian team cold, winning, 18 to 1.

The score by innings of last night's games follow:

John BROACA WAS THE LEADING SLINGER WITH SPECS IN 1935..
LAST YEAR DAN MacFAYDEN WAS A STAND-OUT..
THIS SEASON BILL DIETRICH AND LEE GRISSOM ARE GOING GOOD..
THE CURRENT STAND-OUT AMONG BESPECTACLED BOXMEN IS NO-HIT BILL DIETRICH..

BAD BILL DIETRICH wears cheaters and is a cast-off of the Philadelphia Athletics, to boot, but his name is marked in indelible letters on the hurling honor roll.

The bespectacled boxman who hurls for the Chicago White Sox enjoyed a field day at the expense of the hapless St. Louis Browns recently, and shut them out with nary a safe blow. This no-hit, no-run effort was the first since 1935, when Bill's teammate, Vernon Kennedy, tossed a no hitter. Oddly enough, still another White Sox flinger has a no-hit, no-run classic to his credit, the third hurling hero being the ancient Ted Lyons.

Four-eyed flingers are doing fairly well in the majors this season. Of course, Dietrich is looking upon the world through rose-colored specs since his rise to the heights, while another bespectacled boxman, Lee Grissom of the Reds, is doing quite well, thank you.

Danny MacFayden, the eyeglass-wearing BOSTONIAN, has pitched well for the Bees this spring, but bad luck has jinxed his efforts to chalk up many victories. Johnny Broaca, the Yanks' guy with goggles, has yet to hit his best hurling stride, though he has scored several wins.

SNATCHES OF SPORT

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

CHICAGO, June 17 — This bustling town is filling up for the big fight....All you hear talked in the spots around the noisy loop is Braddock vs Louis, a city world's series between the sputtering Cubs and White Sox and Saturday's American derby hoss race at Washington Park....Right now it looks like the odds will be about 9 to 5 on Louis by Tuesday night....Surprisingly little dough is being laid on the line....(The bangtails get it out this way).

* * *

Ho, hum....A week ago Louis looked terrible and Braddock looked great....Now it is just the reverse....What is it, a gag? If Joe Louis takes Braddock and Schmeling (and doesn't go through with his decision to quit) Mike Jacobs plans to take him on a tour of Europe next winter....It looks like Hank Leiber is out for the rest of the season.

* * *

Baseball men out this way think the Cincinnati Reds are going to be sorry for letting outfielder Joe Dwyer, the slugger from the Southern association, get away from them....Some of the prizes for amateurs offered in the $10,000 Chicago open golf tournament July 23-25 include radios, refrigerators, furniture and free trips to French Lick Springs....The U. S. Golf association kicked and now the amateurs are going to be limited to three prizes, none to cost more than $50....Too bad....That trip to French Lick wouldn't be hard to take.

CLEVELAND DEFEATED BY NEW YORK, 4-1; REDS RAINED OUT

Yanks Strengthen American League Lead at Expense of Tribe.

BY SID FEDER

The change of air and scenery, from Washington to Boston (and vice versa) seems to have been just what the doctor ordered for Buck Newsom and Wes Ferrell.

Whatever else last week's deal between the Senators and Red Sox may prove in future, it already has shown definitely that there's still a lot of pitching left in the salary wings of both Newsom, now with Boston, and Ferrell, at present serving them up for the Nats.

Each is now traveling at 1.000 clip in his new uniform. Ferrell, one of the league's top elbowers for eight years, more or less, started out by stopping the onrushing White Sox in his first action as a Senator last week, and yesterday topped the Tigers 2-1 in 12 innings. Newsom, just reversing the procedure, whipped the Tigers first and followed up with a 3-2 win over the White Sox yesterday.

Gives 8 Hits

Ferrell allowed but eight hits in the 12 innings he worked. Newsom handcuffed the White Sox with five.

While they have been flinging on a par, the rest of last week's swap appears to have favored the Senators. The combination of Wes and Brother Rick, and leadoff man Mel Almada has lent the Senators' batting order considerable more punch than has been provided the Red Sox by Newsom and Ben Chapman, whose batting average as a Boston performer stands at .217.

The defeats for the White Sox and Tigers helped the Yankees stretch their American league lead to two full games yesterday. The New Yorkers, themselves, took a hand in the pastime of belting first-division contenders by stopping the Cleveland Indians 4-1 behind Lefty Gomez's six-hit nine-strikeout pitching.

The New York Giants came from way behind to top the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4 with an eight-inning, three-run rally, and thereby advanced to within five percentage points of the National league lead, held by the Chicago Cubs, whose game with the Boston Bees was rained out.

The Cardinals clouted Phillies' pitching for 14 hits and a 7-6 win for their fifth straight triumph. The St. Louis Browns tagged the Athletics 3-2. Rain washed out the scheduled night game between the Dodgers and Cincinnati Reds.

Reds on Exhibition

The Cincinnati Reds headed for Dayton today for a nocturnal contest with the Dayton Ducks of the Mid-Atlantic loop.

"Wild Bill" Hallahan was scheduled to do his first hurling in nearly a month.

The Reds are only a half-game out of seventh by reason of Philadelphia's defeat by the Cardinals yesterday.

It was up to the old left-hander Earl Whitehill to salvage today something of the three-game series against the Yankees.

The Tribe invaded Yankee stadium only a game and a half behind the world champions, but

Braddock To Meet Louis As "Poorest" Ring Champ

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 17—The "Prince and Pauper" world's title battle set for next Tuesday night has the betting boys jittery.

The "Prince" won't be heavyweight champion James J. Braddock. He'll step into the ring against Joe Louis one of the financially poorest boxing kings in history. From a financial standpoint, the Brown Bomber has a better claim to that title, Louis, who has earned more than $750,000 in three years, will climb through the ropes one of the wealthiest challengers of all time.

Braddock never has been in the "big money," even since beating Max Baer for the title, a chore for which he received but $31,244. Since then he has had to borrow money, so Tuesday night will be his big chance.

There are Braddock bettors asking as much as 3 and 4 to 1 odds, but the impression prevails that the night of the bout Louis will stand about 9 to 5.

Alternately good and bad form by Louis at his Kenosha, Wis., camp has the "wise money" waiting for a sudden downward shift in the Louis odds the day of the battle. Glowing reports on the physical condition of the champion, idle for two years since taking the title from Max Baer also have tended to minimize gambling on the big battle.

The same lack of action, however, didn't hold true today for those responsible for putting the fight over. Scores of out-of-town newspapermen jammed fight headquarters at a downtown hotel. Loop hostelries reported hundreds of applications for advance reservations.

Promoter Joe Foley said rainy weather slowed the ticket sale yesterday, but that about $650,000 already had been taken in. Thus far, 16,000 of the 28,000 ringside seats have been sold, comparable to 14,000 for the Louis-Max Baer fight at a corresponding pre-fight date.

The state boxing commission has narrowed the list of eligible referees to five.

JOHNNY RIZZO PACES RED BIRDS IN WIN

Columbus Trounces St. Paul, 19-2, in Only Association Game.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 17—If the Columbus Red Birds ever get going at the pace now being set by their young outfielder, Johnny Rizzo, the Birds may cause plenty of trouble before this American Association season ends.

They showed signs of attaining the Rizzo tempo yesterday as they whipped St. Paul, 19 to 2. Rizzo, who has led association batsmen for several weeks and now holds an average of .396, had only two hits in seven trips, but one of them was a homer which sparked his mates along in a big ninth inning splurge good for 11 runs.

The Saints-Red Birds contest was the only one played yesterday.

The Toledo-Minneapolis tilt was called after the first inning because of rain, while wet grounds and threatening weather resulted in postponement of two night games, between Indianapolis and Kansas City and Louisville and Milwaukee.

SANDUSKY, June 17—Postponing their home games until they are installed at their new location in Marion, the Sandusky Sailors, second place Ohio State league team, is keeping an eye on the activity of other loop clubs during the lull in their own playing schedule.

Yesterday the Fostoria Redbirds suffered their twenty-first defeat in 23 starts, when they dropped a 12 to 5 decision to the league-leading Mansfield Red Sox. Johnny Cavanaugh, former Philadelphia shortstop, who was at the helm since the start of the season had resigned prior to the game.

At Findlay, Don Donahue hurled four-hit ball for Tiffin to hand the Findlay Browns their fifth straight defeat, 4 to 1. The Browns lone tally came in the seventh on a homer by Fritz Klann, first sacker. Findlay is the club which will be on hand to help open the Sandusky team's stay at Marion, the first game being set for next Tuesday.

Sandusky, postponing its home games this week, will be idle again today and travel to Fostoria, Friday. The score by innings of yesterday's games follow:

150 Golfers Get Ready For Ohio Amateur Tilts

By The Associated Press

CANTON, O., June 17 — Close to 150 of the state's standout "for-the-fun-of-it" golfers will tee next week over the rolling Brookside club course for the Ohio amateur title held by Bobby Cruickshank of Dayton.

Although the field will be heavy with talent, Servis and Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., appeared today to be co-favorites, by reason of the Gem City youth's rousing 40-hole finals match with McCarthy at Toledo Inverness last year.

Servis had won previously in 1932 but McCarthy, making his first state tourney start in 1934, annexed the crown by dropping him 10 to 8.

The two tied for medal honors at Inverness and in the playoff for the qualifying laurels, Servis won with the aid of a hole-in-one on the short 13th.

Thirty-two of the 150 starters will qualify for match play beginning Thursday. Servis, as defending champion, will not have to shoot the 36-hole qualifier, the rules being changed to give the title-holder a berth after Neil Ransick, 1935 champion, failed to qualify last year.

The tournament starts Monday with an 18-hole pro-amateur match in which most of the state's paid club-swingers are expected to play as partners of the simon-pures.

The qualifier will follow on Tuesday and Wednesday, 18 holes each day.

Dr. Herbert Mathews, His Father and Mother, in Crash After Commencement.

Herbert is suffering from fractures of both upper and lower jaws, a fractured pelvic bone and head injuries. His father sustained a fractured shoulder, a fractured right leg below the knee and facial lacerations. Mrs. Mathews is suffering from shock and severe bruises.

PATTERN 4232

The Stars Say—

For Friday, June 18

An interesting, pleasant and eventful day is read from the predominant influence of major planets. There are signs of promotion, honors and tokens of preferment and friendship from employers, superiors and those in established places of prestige and power.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of promotion, preferment, favors and honors at the hands of important personages or employers. These high friendships react on the private life, bringing much felicity as well as enhanced prestige and personal standing. But a small change is imminent, so be conservative in loans and expenditures.

A child born on this day may be capable and ambitious, reaching out for prestige and power, both in business and private lives. It may lean toward speculation and large coups, and should make money and attain influential position. It may lean toward extravagance and indulgence, in a showy manner.
